

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A process for making a fiber product from the waste fiber derived from a virgin fiber pulping or paper making facility. The method comprising dewatering the waste fiber, flaking, then drying. The fiber product is useful for many applications, including 5 use as animal bedding.